"CRITIC'S CHOICE" COMING SOON TO LITTLE THEATRE

"Critic's Choice," a three act comedy by Ira Levin, author of the perennially popular "No Time For Sergeants," will be the next play to be presented at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre. Now in rehearsal, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Carter, it is scheduled for late June.

This is comparatively a new play, having been produced by Otto Preminger at the Elmer Barrmore Theatre, New York City, in December of 1960 with Henry Fonda and Georgeann Johnson starring in the lead roles.

In his book, "How Not To Write A Play," dramatic critic Walter Kerr wrote: "I sometimes have visions of a gag conference in which that slick character who is traditionally known as Manny bounces in, eyes ablaze, and bubbles over with: 'Listen. This guy's a dramatic critic, see? So his wife writes a play. He's got to review the play. Take it from there.'" Critic's Choice is that play.

DR. STARR GUEST AT ROTARY CLUB MEETING HERE

Dr. W. H. Starr, Gulfport, optometrist, a former Bay St. Louis resident, was guest speaker at Bay Rotary luncheon meeting, Wednesday.

Dr. Starr discussed vision and eye trouble in connection with passing drivers' test.

Recently, he said the State of Mississippi has been using the vision test for obtaining driver's licenses. It has been found, he added, most cases of vision trouble can be corrected.

He spoke of the reaction of people with good sight, who are blinded by oncoming vehicle lights at night and cited that sometimes it takes longer than the normal time of 5 to 6 seconds to regain their visions.

Most states, he said, are beginning to enforce vision tests when obtaining drivers' licenses.

STENNIS URGES FULL COMPENSATION FOR LAND ACQUIRED

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Senator John Stennis today strongly urged that "full and just compensation" be paid for land acquired by the Federal government for its proposed missile test facility in Hancock and Pearl River counties.

In a personal conference with top officials in Washington, Stennis, a member of the Senate Aeronautical and Space Science Committee, emphasized two points — fair pay and a speed-up in appraisals.

"I urge that great care be exercised," Stennis said "to assure that owners of property in two counties be paid in full, adequate and just consideration in all settlements."

Stennis also urged officials "to speed up appraisals and settlements" so that landowners and homeowners can make other arrangements for new places to live.

Stennis said about 100 families reside in the 13,500-acre area for the missile test site. He said another 750 residences and other buildings in the 128,000-acre area must also be vacated, including churches, clubs and business establishments.

Stennis said he has received a number of reports from individuals involved in the missile site expressing that some appraisals and reported settlements are unfair and not just compensation for the property being taken.

Stennis said the Federal government "owes these landowners an obligation to do everything reasonably possible to minimize the hardship and inconvenience involved in making the change of residence and adjustment."

HIGHWAY COMMISSION TO AID FAMILIES IN MISSILE TEST AREA

The State Highway Commission has ordered special consideration for families moving homes from the giant new missile testing center in Hancock and Pearl River Counties, according to John D. Smith, Commissioner for the Southern District.

The movement of over-width and over-weight loads over state highways is strictly regulated by the Commission. Many of the homes to be moved out of the 116,850-acre test site exceed normal limits in size, and distance to be traveled over the highways.

The Commission noted that the location on the Mississippi test facility has displaced numerous families and made it necessary to move their homes to a new location in order to provide them reasonably continuous and economical housing; and that, "construction of the facility is in the interest of the National Defense and the future welfare of the State of Mississippi."

It ordered the engineer of maintenance, V. W. Guy, "to exercise every possible effort to cooperate in the movement of the houses of persons displaced due to the construction of the Mississippi Test Facility."

It has been estimated that as many as 400 homes will be moved from the test site location.

Officials of the national aeronautics and space administration met Tuesday with Gulf coast mayors and community leaders at the Michoud plant, to discuss problems which may result from an influx of workers on the Saturn rocket project.

Marion I. Kent, assistant to the deputy administrator of NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., told them work will begin on the major rocket test center in Mississippi this fall. It is to be completed in the fall of 1964, he said.

NASA officials wanted to know if the towns the mayors and community leaders represented have the resources to cope with a population influx.

The Gulf coast leaders wanted to know about how many new people they could expect from the NASA operations.

Complete answers were not forthcoming at the private meeting at the Michoud plant where the Saturn booster will be assembled.

But Kent said this:

"Our preliminary estimates are that 3000 construction workers will ultimately be employed, and 1500 engineers. The construction workers will gradually be phased out at the completion of the facility."

Meeting with Kent and the Gulf coast leaders were officials of the federal housing authority and public health service.

Towns near the 141,500-acre test site and buffer zone will have to absorb the 660 families now residing on the government pre-empted site.

Kent said that officials from Bay St. Louis, Gulfport and Waveland, Miss., met at Michoud Tuesday. Leaders from Slidell, Picayune, Pass Christian and Long Beach met at the plant on Monday.

Mayor John Scafide of Bay St. Louis said his community could handle its share of new people without difficulty if the newcomers are spaced over a period of three or four years.

Watson, Seal Elected To Board Of Southern Company

WILSONVILLE, Ala.—A. J. Watson Jr., president of Mississippi Power Company, was elected a director of The Southern Company at the annual meeting of stockholders here today. Leo W. Seal, of Gulfport, was re-elected to the board.

Harlee Branch Jr., president of the company, reported improvement in the company's net income during the first four months of 1982. Earnings per share of common stock were $2.05 for the 12 months ending April 1982 compared to $2.00 for the calendar year 1981. He predicted the improvement would be maintained or increased through the remainder of the year.

Mr. Watson, the new Mississippi director, has been president of Mississippi Power Company since 1958, before that he had served as vice president and general manager and operating manager. A native of Biloxi, he graduated from Mississippi State University in 1929 and joined Mississippi Power Company shortly thereafter. He is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers and Mississippi Society of Professional Engineers and is a registered engineer in the state of Mississippi. He is a past president of the Gulfport Rotary Club, and a director of the Mississippi Industrial Development Corporation and Mississippi Economic Council.

Three other new directors were elected: W. C. Voreen, president of Moultrie Cotton Mills and Riverside Manufacturing Co., Moultrie, Ga.; R. L. Pulley, president of Gulf Power Company, Pensacola, Fla.; and Alvin W. Vogtle Jr., of Birmingham, Ala., president of Southern Electric Generating Company, a subsidiary company.

Under a change in the by-laws of the company voted by the stockholders, directors of The Southern Company who are also officers of the company or its operating affiliates will retire from the board concurrent with their retirement from their respective companies and will become advisory directors of The Southern Company. Directors retiring under the new provision are L. P. Sweat, former chairman of the board of Mississippi Power Company; Lansing T. Smith Jr., former president of Gulf Power Company; C. B. Barry, former chairman of the executive committee of the Southern Company.

All other directors were re-elected.

Mr. Branch reported to the stockholders on 1981 operations and James F. Crist, executive vice president, conducted a question and answer period.

"Notwithstanding adverse economic and weather conditions in 1981, which caused net income to fall below the 1980 figure," Mr. Branch said, "the year was still the best in our history insofar as sales, revenues and gross income were concerned." He informed the stockholders that territorial energy sales were 10.9 per cent higher for the four months through April 1982 than for the same period of 1981. Revenues from these sales were up 7.9 per cent.

He estimated expenditures for new power facilities would total $541,000,000 in the three years from 1982-84, the largest amount in the company's history for a similar period.

These expenditures will provide not only growing power requirements, he said, but will give the system companies the most modern and efficient production facilities.

The companies have pioneered in adapting electronic devices to their requirements. He cited an electronic computer used to determine the most economical use

Polio Pioneers Blazing New Trail

In April, 1954, six-year-old Randy Kerr received the first shot launching the giant nationwide field trial of the Salk polio vaccine. Eight years later Randy presents a Salk Institute lapel button to the 32nd National A-H Conference in Washington, D. C.

Young Randall Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Kerr, Oakton, Va., is growing up to the title he has held for eight years—the nation's No. 1 Polio Pioneer.

In April, 1954, he was the first of millions of young school children who participated in the giant March of Dimes-financed field trials which helped prove the safety and effectiveness of the Salk vaccine.

Now going on 15, Randy is the official leader of today's teen-age Polio Pioneers who are out to build a laboratory wing of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies in San Diego, Calif. To be constructed with funds raised by teenagers representing many schools and youth organizations across the country, the laboratory wing will be an enduring tribute to the youth of America and the historic success of their partnership with science against polio.

"We were just kids when we first got our Polio Pioneer pins," says the mature Randy Kerr. "But now we're old enough to realize how much the protection they represented has meant to us and to children everywhere."

A top-notch student majoring in chemistry and math, Randy is completing his sophomore year at the Flint Hill School in Oakton. Like most teenagers, he is far more aware of the giant strides of modern science than many adults.

"Dr. Salk's idea of a center where great scientists can work together for better understanding of the processes of life makes sense," Randy says with youthful positiveness. "Things like heredity and all sorts of diseases are complicated. They have to be studied from a lot of different viewpoints if we're going to get the scientific knowledge we need."

The Salk Institute for Biological Studies, scheduled to open in 1963, will be directed by Dr. Jonas Salk. He will be joined by many world-eminent scientists in biology, chemistry, Alton Jules Sanjour, 34, Clermont Harbor, was arrested by U. S. Treasury Department agents, and agents seized and destroyed an 11-gallon still.

Investigation of the still had just been placed in operation when the raid was launched. Officers also confiscated a 1952 Ford automobile.

The Sanjourns were taken to Biloxi for preliminary proceedings before U. S. Commissioner Mrs. Irene Humphreys. Their bonds are returnable to the next session of the grand jury for federal court, Southern District of Mississippi.

Craneford said they are charged with possession and operation of an unregistered distillery and possession of materials which could be used in the manufacture of distilled spirits.

Shell dealers suggest 15 ways to make your car last longer

Shell scientists dedicate their working lives to the care and feeding of automobiles.

They can offer dozens of tips on prolonging the life of what is probably your second biggest investment. Here are some useful samples:

1. Learn to read tail pipe smoke signals. Blue smoke means too much oil is getting into the combustion chambers. Your piston rings may be worn. Black smoke is an indication of too much gasoline in the air-fuel mixture. Your carburetor may need an adjustment. White smoke is mostly water vapor. Don't worry about it.
2. Check wheel alignment at least twice a year. An out-of-line wheel can increase tire wear as much as 50 percent. Also, keep your wheels balanced. An unbalanced wheel pounds the tire against the pavement, wearing the tread unevenly.
3. Rotate tires every 6,000 miles. Be sure to include your spare. This helps tires wear evenly, last longer. Your Shell dealer can take care of this for you.
4. Avoid high speeds and save your tires. High speeds increase tire wear drastically—by as much as 80% over normal wear.
5. Use your engine to save your brake linings. Try to avoid hard, sudden braking. When you see you'll have to slow down, take your foot off the accelerator early and let the engine's compression do some of the job.
6. Warm up slowly. Racing an engine to warm it up ages it fast. A short warm-up at moderate speed is good for your car even in summer. But never race your cold engine to warm up. It may damage critical working parts before lubrication can be fully established.
7. Have your engine's spark timing set to proper specifications. Spark timing determines whether your plugs fire at the right instant. With incorrect timing, you can lose power and mileage. Also, your car may knock. And chronic knocking can damage your engine.
8. Use a gasoline that controls knock. If your engine persists in knocking, you may need a gasoline with more anti-knock components, for a higher octane rating. Super Shell contains all of the anti-knock ingredients required to help your car deliver knock-free performance.
9. Have your oil checked whenever you fill up with gasoline. Oil does not wear out. But it can be lost through leaks or burning. And it does get dirty. Worse yet, oil can become contaminated by combustion by-products—including acid. Suggestion: use new Shell X-100® Premium Motor Oil. It fights engine acid and four other troubles that can shorten engine life.
10. Change your oil filter element regularly. The filter is designed to catch and hold foreign particles so they can't get into your engine. Replacing the filter element at regular intervals helps your engine last longer.
11. Have your car's cooling system checked in spring and fall. Cooling system rust inhibitors can wear out. Rust, corrosion and sediment may then start to form. In the spring, let your Shell dealer inspect your entire cooling system. When he drains and refills, he'll add a special Cooling System Protector.

In the fall, you get a free cooling system inspection when you have Shellzone anti-freeze put in by your Shell dealer.

12. Get a lubrication job regularly. Dirt and moisture can work into chassis joints and bushings, causing friction and wear. Grease can also eventually pound out, leaving the parts unprotected.

Shell lubrication at regular intervals helps protect those vital parts.

13. Keep door and body panel drain holes clear to foil rust. There are little drain holes at the bottom of body panels and doors. They can get clogged so that the panels actually hold water. Result: Rust forms more easily, can eat through the metal. Make sure drain holes are clear.

14. "Bandage" minor scratches in your car's finish. Until you can have the scratches refinished, keep rust from forming with a coat of touch-up paint or a strip of cellulose tape.

15. Let your Shell dealer help your car last longer. Your car may have cost you thousands of dollars. Treat it carefully. Feed it well. Let your Shell dealer help you on both counts. You will save money—and increase your driving pleasure, too.

Foreign Representatives To Participate In Deep-Sea Rodeo

Mississippi's annual Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo will have an international flavor this year. Gov. Ross R. Barnett has resolved in a recent proclamation to invite representatives from Canada and Latin American to the event at Gulfport June 30-July 4.

Barnett's proclamation stated in part, "... in celebrating the Fourth of July, we invite official representatives from Canada and friendly Latin American countries to join with us and that we dedicate this Independence Day program to Freedom, and to the idea of 'A Commonwealth of the Americas,' an alliance of progress for all the free people of the Western Hemisphere."

This year's rodeo, the fourteenth to be held, will take place at the small Craft Harbor at Gulfport. More than 4,500 fishermen participated last year, when eight records were broken. Sport fishing authorities expect this year's turnout to be even larger, and predict more record catches to be broken.

Traffic Increase
According to a monthly report of the Mississippi Highway Department, traffic over U. S. Highway 90 toll bridge at Bay St. Louis in April showed an increase over March. The report showed 217,573 vehicles used the bridge in April as compared to 216,278 in March.

SELECTING FRESH VEGETABLE AND FRUITS

- To get highest quality of fruits and vegetables that fit your family needs:
1. Make your own selection.
  2. Don't buy just because the price is low.
  3. Consider fruits and vegetables in season in nearby areas.
  4. Don't buy more than you need or more than you can store without waste.
  5. Don't buy fruits and vegetables that show excessive ripeness, limpness, sprouting or other deterioration.
  6. Remember the largest is not always the best.
  7. Distinguish between defects in looks and those that affect eating quality.
  8. Watch for full measure. Some containers are packed or replaced with loose or "slack pack," which reduces the actual amount. Examining containers that appear to be "faced" with the best specimens. The face layer may conceal ordinary or poor quality.
  9. Consider buying fruits and vegetables designated by the U.S.D.A. as plentiful foods.
  10. Do not handle produce unnecessarily.

It wasn't Dad who burned the midnight oil ... or crammed for exams ... or struggled with term papers ... or won a letter in baseball ... or a prize in home economics.

Dad just wrote the checks ... and the encouraging letters ... and boasted to the office force about his "kids" in school.

But this is really Dad's graduation. For he planned this day many years ago. And all these years he has struggled to give his boy and girl the kind of an education he never had.

Something else he has given them—something he did have; a sound Christian faith, manifested in loyal devotion to his Church's worship and work.

Better than a diploma is Dad's reward today; the reverent, joyous certainty that, not only in their education, but equally in their spiritual development, he has recognized the needs of his children ... and has seen them through.

Are you planning your children's future—every Sunday?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Big Jump Is Shown In Yield Of Cotton

Mississippi's 1961 cotton and cottonseed combined value totaled $308,892,000, a sixteen per cent jump over the previous year. The combined value of the crop in 1960 was $274,918,000. The 1961 crop averaged 493 pounds per acre, more than the 1960 crop.

Same Farm Mark Is In High Gear

Farming in Mississippi has been going in high gear from early until late during sunny, rain-free days. Cotton planting is nearing completion, soybeans and corn are planted, pastures fertilized and sprayed, and oats harvested. Much of the cotton is up to a good stand and being worked out. Although some cotton fields are infested with thrips, control measures are being applied.

Feed Manufacturing

Feed manufacturing is an important activity in Mississippi. The state's progress and prosperity of the feed manufacturing industry and these products contribute to the steady expansion of the state's thriving livestock industry.

GRAZING DEADLINE PAST FOR FEED GRAIN PROGRAMS

Farmer were reminded today that acreage diverted under either the 1962 wheat or feed grain program may no longer be pastured.

Tommy R. Shaw, Chairman of the Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said today that May 1 was the deadline for pasturing such acreage. Acreage to be diverted under the program is so designated by the program participant at the time a check is made of compliance. In this county, this check is now substantially completed.

Under the wheat and feed grain programs, farmers are seeking to bring production into line with needs through diverting to a conserving use acreage formerly planted to either wheat or corn.

WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE FOR

AMENDMENT — DIVIDING THE OFFICE OF SHERIFF AND TAX-COLLECTOR INTO TWO SEPARATE OFFICES

JUNE 5, 1962

Mississippi's chief law enforcement officer, Attorney General Joe Patterson, today added his endorsement to adoption of the constitutional amendment on June 5th to allow sheriffs to succeed themselves where the office of sheriff and tax collector are separated.

General Patterson said that under the present system "about the time a sheriff gets to be an experienced and highly efficient law enforcement officer, his term expires."

His full statement follows:

"I am supporting Senate Concurrent Resolution 109 which authorizes the sheriff to succeed himself in office. I have thought for many years that it would be in the interest of economy, as well as promote efficiency and law enforcement, to permit the sheriff to succeed himself. The office of sheriff is a big job in any county. A trained law enforcement officer can always enforce the law better than an inexperienced one. Under our system, just about the time a sheriff gets to be an experienced and highly efficient law enforcement officer his term expires.

"I hope that Senate Concurrent Resolution will meet with the approval of the people when they go to the polls on June 5, 1962."

Earlier this week, statements were issued by the presidents of the Mississippi Sheriffs Association, the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers Association and the Mississippi-Tennessee Peace Officers Association, Secretary of State Heber Ladner, Senator Bob Everitt of Ruleville, and a number of local chambers of commerce and organizations, such as the MEC-State Chamber of Commerce, in support of the proposed amendment.

The proposal was overwhelmingly endorsed by the legislature.

FOREST FIRES

Fire control crews have had a busy period of late in various areas due to high winds and dry conditions which prevailed in most parts of the state, combining to cause a high fire danger period. It is stressed that fires can be prevented by observing these precautions: Having a fire break around the area being burned off; burning on days of relatively calm winds; burning against the wind in the late afternoon; and staying with the fire until it is out. Observing recommended burning practices can eliminate an economic loss.

Soil Stewardship

Mississippi's economic well-being hinges to some extent on stable and prosperous agriculture, and this fact gives special importance to soil stewardship. Soil and water conservation is a vital activity in moving to strengthen the agricultural system. One to ten percent of the state's land is in need of some type of conservation program. This is especially true in the Delta region where the land is being eroded and is needed for food production.
